LENINE READY TO SURRENDER, REPORT

LONDON, Feb. 3.—An unconfirmed dispatch from Petrograd today reported that soldiers had revolted there and that there was considerable machine-gun fighting going on in the streets. Troops from Kronstadt were said to be bombarding Petrograd. Rumors were current in the latter city that Premier Lenin is preparing to surrender to the entente.

The Stockholm correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph reported that Bolshevik troops are withdrawing in the Baltic provinces, particularly in Estonia.

The Bolshevik official communique received by wireless from Petrograd today said: "In the Archangel region we occupied fortified positions near Tarasovo, capturing three machine guns, a large quantity of provisions and considerable military material."

HONOR OUR HEROES, DR. GORDON URGES

Blunders are inevitable in war, said the Rev. James L. Gordon at the First Congregational Church yesterday in preaching on "Our Wounded Heroes in the Walter Reed Hospital." "The harvest of complaint," said the speaker, "should give way to a little praise for the thousands of boys who are now stationed in the many hospitals in the country. We've won a glorious victory. Let us praise instead of hampering the work that is still to be done."

This is not the time for the capitalist and the laborer to see what they can get out of the country, according to the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, who preached at Calvary M. E. Church yesterday on "Our Country's Perils."

The Rev. Dr. Charles Wood, of the Church of the Covenant, preached on "The Ethical Rule" in the morning and on "Half Truths, as a Boomerang" at the evening service.

Approximately 2,000 men last night attended the opening service of the retreat being held at St. Aloysius church this week. The sermon was preached by the Rev. John P. Walsh, who is to be in charge of the retreat. The sermon was followed by benediction of the blessed sacrament.

The Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, of All Souls' Church, preached the fifth of his series of sermons on "The Life Worth While."

The nation, as a whole, does not yet realize the benefits that will be gained from the war, according to the Rev. Herbert P. Randolph, who preached at Foundry M. E. Church on "By-Products of the War."

The question of the returning soldiers was taken up last night by the Rev. Henry Allen Tupper at First Baptist Church. Dr. Tupper spoke of the benefits gained by the men through being called into service.

"President Wilson represents the greatest moral force in the world," said the Rev. Dr. Abraham Simon at Eighth Street Temple yesterday. The President arrived at a vital time, he said, and the nations of Europe look to the United States to carry them through the peace conference in the same manner in which the war was brought to a successful conclusion.

MAJ. GEN. MURRAY TO HAVE HOUSE COMMITTEE JOB

Through a distinct departure from precedent, a retired major general of the army will be the clerk of the House Military Affairs Committee after the next House is organized. Maj. Gen. Arthur Murray, former chief of coast artillery, a personal friend of Congressman Kahn, who is to be the new chairman, will be selected, unless the War Department objects.

1,180 KILLED BY AUTOS.
NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Fatalities caused by automobile accidents in 1918 in New York State show 1,180 persons were killed. Of these 748 were killed in New York city. The number of deaths in 1917 was 937.

How many girls in Washington have lost the chance of marriage?

In England alone—where a million men who went to fight will never come back—there are 600,000 girls who have lost the chance of marriage. What will they do—go on working? And think of the widows—400,000 of them!

At the end of 1918 there were 1,550,000 women in England replacing men—running everything from printing presses to elevators—cheap workers as well as good. Will they give up their jobs? Will their employers want to let them go?

As our soldiers come home we, here, shall have to face the very problems which W. L. George describes in "Women and Labor" in February GOOD HOUSEKEEPING. As an authority on women's relation to society Mr. George answers clearly the questions that all of us are asking.

His article is only one of the important features for February—as important as James Oliver Curwood's tale of the Northwest

Mounted Police, "The River's End," and Clara Savage's description of how Paris acted when it heard about the armistice; as Harold Kellock's "Who is a Bolshevik and Why?" and I. A. R. Wylie's latest masterpiece of fiction. With its pages of charming interesting Spring Fashions and the Good Housekeeping Institute's sound helpful facts, this number truly has a whole month of diversion and satisfaction—ready for you now—tonight!

OUT TODAY—AT YOUR NEWSDEALER'S—20 CENTS

13 Dollars—13 Cents

When Swift & Company paid, say,—13 dollars per hundredweight for live beef cattle last year, their profit was only 13 cents! In other words, if we had paid $13.13, we would have made no profit.

Or, if we had received a quarter of a cent per pound less for dressed beef we would have made no profit.

It is doubtful whether any other business is run on so close a margin of profit.

This is bringing the producer and the consumer pretty close together—which should be the object of any industry turning raw material into a useful form.

This remarkable showing is due to enormous volume, perfected facilities (packing plants strategically located, branch houses, refrigerator cars, etc.), and an army of men and women chosen and trained to do their special work.

This, and many other points of interest, are found in the Swift & Company Year Book for 1919, just published which is brought out for the public as well as for the 25,000 Swift & Company shareholders.

The Year Book also represents the packer's side of the Federal Trade Commission investigation, upon which Congress is asked to base action against the industry.

Many who have never heard the packer's side are sending for the Year Book

$1,500,000,000 Hoarded By Immigrants Here For Europe, Says U. S. Agent

More than $1,500,000,000 earned in the United States by immigrants has been secretly hoarded since America entered the war, according to evidence given to the Overman subcommittee on German propaganda yesterday.

The purpose of keeping this money out of American banks and placing it in secret hiding places, the same evidence shows, was that it might be sent back to the European countries from which the immigrants came as soon as peace is assured.

The evidence was laid before the committee by Lajos Steiner, a native of Hungary, who is a resident of Chicago. He conducted an investigation for the War Trade Board's intelligence among the foreign-born population in this country. He found, he said, that particularly among the immigrants who have settled on farms in the Middle West the home ties are so strong that when America entered the war the savings and earnings of these people were withdrawn from banks and secreted in tin cans, bottles, stockings and other hiding places. At the same time, he added, agents of the foreign countries went among the people telling them that after the war Europe would be the land of opportunity, and that whatever money they had should be hoarded in order that it might be sent abroad.

"These agents even went so far as to advise the immigrants to sell their Liberty bonds and send their money back to the home country," the witness said. "The whole propaganda conducted by the foreign agents has been against the Americanization of the immigrant."

Blames Churches and Ship Lines.

Steiner said that before America went to war the active agencies in this propaganda were the churches founded in this country by the foreign governments with ministers salaried by those governments and the trans-Atlantic steamship companies. He said the steamship companies object to having their vessels return to Europe empty and for this reason have encouraged the immigrants to preserve the home ties and to return to the countries from which they came as soon as they have earned a competence here.

Many of the foreign-language newspapers in this country, he added, are under subsidy from foreign governments and the trans-Atlantic steamship companies. Of the 6,000 newspapers in the United States printed in a foreign language, he said, only about twenty-five are loyal, the others preaching continually an un-American doctrine. He urged that these papers be abolished or be required to print a translation in English of every thing they publish.

In order to combat the work of foreign propagandists, the witness said he urged a campaign of publicity to increase the popularity of the postal savings banks and raising the rate of interest from 2 to 3 per cent.

History of Transatlantic Co.
The history of the founding of the Transatlantic Trust Company in New York was given to the committee by Francis K. Kinnicutt, an assistant of the War Trade Board. It was started by three Hungarian banks in Budapest, he said, for the purpose of gathering in the savings of Hungarian immigration and forwarding them to Hungary. Branches were established in various cities of the country and agents were sent out to encourage Hungarian settlers in this country to deposit their savings for transmission abroad.

The witness said that the trust company helped to float war loans in the United States for the Austro-Hungarian government, and on the advice of the Austrian Embassy sent all of the Hungarian savings, amounting to $32,000,000, out of the United States in July, 1916. Seventy per cent of the stock of the trust company was held in Hungary.

The institution is now being liquidated by the Alien Property Custodian.

URGE AMERICA TO HELP ESTABLISH POLISH REPUBLIC

Support of the United States in the move to establish a republic in Poland was asked by members of the Polish relief mission who met in Carroll Hall yesterday afternoon.

"Poland is capable of ruling herself," declared Count Alfred de Szarek Korzybski, a veteran of the Polish army in Russia. "In the days that followed the exodus of the Russians from Poland, the political administration of the country was left to natives. They handled the situation well."

"Poland through three generations of bondage has remained one of the most democratic nations in the world. The American people must help to keep this spirit of democracy alive in our country."

An appeal for immediate aid for the starving Poles was voiced by Arthur Riley, of Washington, formerly vice consul to Poland from the United States.
